

The new Healthy Brain Network Harlem evaluation center is located in the thriving central Harlem community on the second floor of 286 Malcolm X Boulevard (sometimes called Lenox Avenue). It is just down the block from the Apollo Theater and Red Rooster, and across the street from Whole Foods.

The office is under an hour's drive from most points in all five boroughs of New York City and a number of locations in the greater metropolitan area too. There are several parking options within a short walk of the office. None of the garages offer parking validation – prices at the closest lots are about $18-20 for 8 hours or $10-12 if you arrive before 10 am. See average commute times from area locations, below.
